

Marked by E. F.:

- p. 40 - baboons in London Zoo - less aggressive
41 - "
42 - "
44 urban monkeys etc.
49 wild gibbons + howler - less aggressive
50 " langur, baboons "
51 gorillas, chimpanzees "
53 "
54 Stressors other than food shortage
64 Japanese monkey - an official female electorate
69 Monkey bands - open temp. societies
70 "
71 young monkeys playing
72 "

Marked by E. B.

- 80 Zoo monkeys full of tension + fights
82 " " "
86 Special attention paid to babies in monkeys
87 " " " 12 humans
99 Violence contagious
101-02 Types of quarrel's analyzed - Whipsnade Zoo
108 Mass seduction
110-11 Relationship between domestic violence + war?
119 Differences of status depth in Zoo or wild
146-147 Crowding + Violence - in monkeys
150 Population violence controls growth
162 Stresses produce violence

) 204 European population changes

252 Fundamental problem of violence in humans + monkeys is population stress

257-59 Violence, hunting + Man:

Man is not inherently more violent than animals; hunting does not make man violent

265 Violence through the generations

266-67 Acute stress in humans has effect for generations

268 Parents under severe stress pass it along to children

269-70 Young monkeys head playmates more than mother

271 Monkeys raised in isolation ignore or kill their children

257/58 Hunting - Frankenstein

A93